

REPORT OF THE LAW DAY COMMITTEE
OF THE LYCOMING LAW ASSOCIATION FOR THE YEAR 2004

Serving on the Law Day Committee in the year 2004 were the Honorable Dudley N. Anderson, attorneys Marc F. Lovecchio, Christian Lovecchio, Robin A. Read, Benjamin Landon, William P. Carlucci, Julieanne E. Steinbacher, and Christian D. Frey, and paralegals Kenneth Try and Kelly G. Crist. As in previous years, the Law Association sponsored an essay contest, the topic for 2004 being “Should the law require that students pass a PSSA (proficiency) test in order to graduate?” Students could also submit a work of visual art in an art contest, portraying something to do with the American system of justice.

Winning essays were read and art was displayed by the students in a ceremony on April 29, 2004 in Courtroom #1, which was videotaped for later viewing on cable television. Following the ceremony, there was a reception for attorneys and guests, at which the Lycoming Law Association’s new executive director, Jessica Engel, was the guest of honor. During the Law Day week, members of the Lycoming Law Association appeared on Ken Sawyer’s radio call-in talk show on WRAK, discussing legal topics of interest to the public.

Thanks to all who contributed, and particularly to Fred Decker, who videotaped the proceedings gratis.

Respectfully submitted,
